Biggest Pennsylvania Farm Show In History Opens Today

67 Counties
Represented
All This Week

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9 (AP)—The doors of the 39th annual Pennsylvania Farm Show open at 8 a.m. tomorrow for the beginning of what is yearly considered one of the country's top indoor exhibitions of farm life.

The sprawling 13-acre Farm Show building hummed with activity as farmers from all the commonwealth's 67 counties hustled to get livestock and other entries in place for the grand opening.

Judging starts during the day and will continue through the five days and four nights of the show as prime animals and poultry compete for more than $50,000 in cash awards.

Last exhibits to be installed were colorful perishable items, vegetables and dairy products. In the past two days 2,165 head of dairy and beef cattle, sheep and swine were placed in stalls.

Gleaming files of farm equipment stood ready to greet farm show visitors from nearly every state and from Canada and some lands overseas.

The 363 commercial exhibitors have provided displays of equipment ranging from tiny garden plows to giant grain combines that cut 15-foot swathes through fields.

The theme of the 1955 classic is its dedication to Pennsylvania State University, founded 100 years ago as the Pennsylvania Farmers High School.

It is the biggest and most attractive show since the exposition was started in 1917," said W. S. Hagar, state agriculture secretary. "It will do much to advance agriculture and rural living in Pennsylvania."

Formal dedication of the show to the university will be made tomorrow night by retiring Gov. John S. Fine. The annual governor's night festival will be the last for Fine, who will leave office Jan. 18 when Gov.-Elect George M. Leader—himself a top-flight polo player—is inaugurated.

Meanwhile, Farm Show veterans looked for new record attendance, with hopes that visitors this year will top the record 685,000 who came to the show in 1952.

Adding to the atmosphere of the show are "courts of honor" for champions in each of the judging classes for livestock and poultry.

The courts—bedecked with gilt and royal purple draperies—are stalls or cages where the plump kings and queens of livestock and gaudy competition can be shown to best advantage.

As always at the Farm Show, special attention will be paid to rural youth activities. The youngsters are entered in many of the adult classes and have their own niches to show off 4-H Club, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America's versatility.

More than 200 FFA youths will receive the honorary degree of "Keystone Farmer" for their aptitude and initiative in agriculture and for the first time 40 girls will receive Future Homemakers degrees.

One of the biggest drawing cards arena, is the annual judging and at the 10,000-capacity Farm Show auction sale of 4-H baby beavers.

The cattle, raised by the youngsters, bring huge prices from meat packing firms which boost the 4-H competition.

In other events, contenders will vie for the state horseshoe pitching championship, log-sawing championship and lead more than 40 teams of horses into competition for the annual horse-pulling title.

Traditional highlight of evening events comes Tuesday when more than 1,000 representatives of farm organizations and churches put on the annual rural talent festival.

Weather Hampers Diaper Race

PATUXENT RIVER, Md., Jan. 9 (AP)—The Navy said tonight wet weather in the Azores has put a damper on the race a gallant Navy lieutenant is running with his newly adopted Greek baby and a dwindling supply of diapers.

An official at Patuxent Md. Naval Air Station said the plane carrying Lt. Norman K. Moose Donahoe and baby Roni Marie back to the United States was grounded in French Morocco, North Africa.

HARRISBURG, PA.—Steve Kapinus, left, and Karl Schuetz of the El Rancho Farms in Scott Township, Lackawanna County, lead their cattle, the first to arrive for the Pennsylvania Farm Show, into their stalls. The Guernsey cows will be entered in the Guernsey division of the show which opens during this week.

Democrat Says President's World Trade Plan To Pass

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Some advocates of free world trade today criticized President Eisenhower's foreign economic program as inadequate, but its Democratic sponsor in Congress predicted it will be adopted without substantial change.

Eisenhower will send Congress a special message tomorrow detailing his proposals for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade act, with power to cut tariffs an additional 15 per cent.

This will be the first of a series of White House messages following up specific issues which the President sketched in broad outline in his State of the Union message last Thursday.

While some critics of his world trade program said it fails to solve one of the most serious obstacles to an expanded exchange of free world goods, Rep. Jerry Cooper (D-Tenn.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he doubted there would be any major changes in the administration's proposal, which he is sponsoring in Congress.

The formal dedication of the show to the university will be made tomorrow night by retiring Gov. John S. Fine. The annual governor's night festival will be the last for Fine, who will leave office Jan. 18 when Gov.-Elect George M. Leader—himself a top-flight polo player—is inaugurated.

Favor Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.) said today congressional advocates of increased airpower will find it difficult to oppose President Eisenhower's flexible-force military program.

He faces strong opposition, however, from many Republicans, notably the three senior GOP members on the Ways and Means Committee—Reps. Reed (N.Y.), Jenkins (Ohio) and Simpson (Pa.).

Unemployed New Jersey Man Is Arrested For Kidnapping Boy He Met In Pike County Camp

FREEHOLD, N.J., Jan. 9 (AP)—An unemployed New Jersey man was arrested by state police in his hotel room early today and accused of kidnaping a 16-year-old Yonkers, N.Y., boy in the hope of obtaining $100,000 ransom.

Anthony Staios, 31, of Matawan Township, was taken into custody in Toms River, about 25 miles from here, following a hotel check as police closed in on him by tracking his movements in two states.

Monmouth County Prosecutor J. Victor Carton said Staios signed a statement admitting the kidnapping of Joel Robert Katz, a youth whom he met when they both worked at a summer camp at Lackawaxen, Pa.

PATUXENT RIVER, Md., Jan. 9 (AP)—The Navy said tonight wet weather in the Azores has put a damper on the race a gallant Navy lieutenant is running with his newly adopted Greek baby and a dwindling supply of diapers.

An official at Patuxent Md. Naval Air Station said the plane carrying Lt. Norman K. Moose Donahoe and baby Roni Marie back to the United States was grounded in French Morocco, North Africa.

FBI agents and Carton said they did not know yet if a federal kidnap charge would be lodged against Staios. The boy said he accepted an auto ride from Staios after school Friday and the two drove to New Jersey, where Staios had promised to show him his farm. Carton said Katz was tricked into the cellar of Staios' home and bound and gagged. He was taken out in the car once and then returned to the cellar. Katz escaped Saturday morning while Staios slept, he said.

Carton said Staios called his family's home in Matawan Township on Raritan Bay, south of New York City Saturday.

Police Capt. William S. Mustoe answered the telephone and pretended to be Staios' brother, Angelo.

Staios became suspicious while the call was being traced, asked Mustoe to speak Greek and when Mustoe could not, hung up.

Police discovered later Staios had been unemployed since last summer and planned to get ransom for the boy, the son of a realtor of average means. The boy wrote two notes, one at Staios' order demanding $100,000 ransom, and the other to reassure his parents, Carton said.

Staios tore up the notes and threw the pieces out of his car yesterday after the boy escaped, Carton said the arrested man told him.

FBI agents and Carton said they

Joseph Babich, checking all hotels and rooming houses in Toms River where Staios reportedly had friends, found him registered in the Marion Inn there under his known alias of Anthony Roberts.

They routed him from bed without a struggle.

Although Katz said he was held in the home of Staios' mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vallianatos, Carton said he was "reasonably well satisfied" Staios' family did not know of the plan."

Carton said Staios admitted to the details of the boy's tale of a casual ride that turned into a nightmare.

McCarthy, still acting as chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee pending new Democratic committee assignments, has called a meeting for tomorrow.

He has announced he will demand that Stevens, Adams, Weible and Zwicker be called to testify, possibly Tuesday.

Bolsters Dropping Of Charge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Sen. Case (R-SD) said today Secretary of the Army Stevens' latest report on the Irving Peress case supported the Senate's action in dropping one censure count against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The Army granted Peress, a dentist and former Army major, an honorable discharge ahead of schedule last Feb. 2 after McCarthy had accused him of being "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and demanded he be court-martialed.

Case was a member of the special bipartisan Senate committee that recommended last fall that McCarthy be censured, among other things, for the manner in which he had questioned Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker about the Peress case.

However, Case subsequently changed his position on this censure count and the Senate dropped it. But it voted 67-22 to condemn McCarthy's conduct in connection with other matters.

Case said in a statement today that Stevens' latest report on the Peress affair, a 10,000-word chronology of events, was "most welcome."

"It supports my position and the action of the Senate in removing the Zwicker count from the McCarthy censure resolution," he said.

Case said "it clearly reveals, as I claimed, that there was a footrace Monday, Feb. 1, 1954—by Peress to Gen. Zwicker's office demanding an honorable discharge at once; by McCarthy to the Pentagon asking the Army to file charges against Peress until his activities could be fully probed."

No time for the meeting has been announced.

There was no indication whether the flying trip half way around the world by the United Nations secretary general would meet with success or frustration.

Piping radio has not even mentioned the purpose of Hammarskjold's visit. A press spokesman at U.N. headquarters in New York said the secretary had given no hint in his reports as to how the talks were going.

The talks were recessed over the weekend after a five-hour session Saturday, the longest of all since the negotiations began Thursday.

Peiping radio yesterday came closest to mentioning why Hammarskjold flew to the Red capital.

It said the United States was talking about "direct action" to force release of the fliers on Jan. 5 "the very day when Dag Hammarskjold . . . arrived in Peking."

No time for the meeting has been announced.

It should now be clear to everyone," Case said, "that it would have been a bad precedent for the Senate to censure the chairman of a Senate committee for losing his patience against that background even though we did not approve the language he used and even though we voted to censure on other unrelated conduct."

McCarthy, in questioning Zwicker at a one-man hearing last Feb. 18 about the Peress case, told the general he was not fit to wear that uniform."

The censure committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), called McCarthy's treatment of Zwicker, a decorated combat officer, "inexcusable" and "reprehensible." It said McCarthy had blamed him for actions for which he was not responsible.

But Case changed his position after the committee's hearings when he said he had learned from Stevens for the first time that Army officials had decided to grant Peress an immediate honorable discharge after receiving McCarthy's letter requesting court-martial proceedings.

The Army's new report on the case, made public Friday night, said Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, deputy chief of staff for administration, and Army Counselor John G. Adams made the decision to grant Peress' request to be discharged Feb. 2.

Peress had appeared before the McCarthy investigations subcommittee Jan. 30 and had refused to answer questions about Communist affiliations, citing his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination.

He similarly had invoked his constitutional privilege when filling out a loyalty form before entering the Army Jan. 1, 1953.

Americans Back From Years In Soviet Prisons Complain Their Beds Were Too Soft

BERLIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Two Americans released from Soviet forced labor camps complained today they hadn't slept too well during their first night of freedom. "The beds were too soft," they said.

Handed over by the Russians in East Berlin yesterday, the two, Pvt. William Marchuk, 38, of Norristown, Pa., and John H. Noble, 31, of Detroit—had for lunch the first steaks they had tasted in years. And there was ice cream, too.

The men were placed in a U.S. year-old daughter, Rosemarie, reported afterward Noble was quite cheerful.

"He looked very good," she said. Noble told U.S. officials he was treated neither better nor worse than other inmates of the vast Vorkuta camp.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Daniel G. Warner funeral home. Arrangements are being made by Warner and Dunkelberger and Westbrook.

Rev. John A. Bollier, assisted by Rev. Frank H. Blatt, will officiate. Interment will be made in Stroudsburg cemetery. Friends may call at Warner funeral home Tuesday after 7 p.m.

Age Means Nothing In World Antics

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—While the year was yet young many people demonstrated last week that age means nothing.

In London, Fanny Ennis, 69, filed suit for breach of promise against John Purser, 73, claiming he'd been promising to marry her since 1908.

In Houston, Tex., Dr. Julius H. Johnson died at the age of 97. He retired 57 years ago because of bad health.

A 75-year-old woman plunged from a third floor window in Florence, Italy, but landed unharmed in the arms of two men who were talking on the sidewalk. And in Newark, N. J., a 58-year-old grandmother chased an armed robber out of a sporting goods shop with the admonition: "Get out, you bum!"

Into the world in Everett, Ga., came healthy Little Mae Clay, possessing 15 brothers and sisters and 14 half-brothers and sisters ranging in age from 1 to 50. Her father, 69, and mother, 30, have had 15 children in their 15-year marriage. If there's nothing in age, there's something in name.

A young fellow in Jersey City, N. J., who soon will enter the Army, received court permission to change his name from Howard Goldbrick to Howard Borodin.

Berwick Catholic Church Destroyed By Major Fire

BERWICK, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP)—Fire raged for hours today through Berwick's much admired St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church, causing damage estimated at perhaps more than $100,000.

The fire was detected during the third mass, which was being conducted by a visiting priest.

The priest and members of the congregation saw smoke curling up from the floor. The priest tried to finish the mass, but soon realized that he could not do so.

The Rev. Francis M. Mongeluzzi, pastor of the church, and some of the parishioners, sped to the basement—a large social and recreation area with a stage—but could make no headway because of dense smoke.

Although smoke and flames quickly filled the church, the congregation left quietly and in safety under the guidance of the priests. No one suffered the slightest hurt, it was reported.

Police said the holdup apparently was well-planned. They gave this version:

Tom Daley, timekeeper for Continental Transportation Lines, Inc., stopped at an intersection while driving home and the gunman leaped into his car and ordered him to return to the office.

The gunman floored Daley and covered the night watchman, Tim Grandi, with the gun.

He forced Grandi into a closet and nailed the door fast.

Daley opened a safe, as directed. The robber stuffed the cash into his pockets.

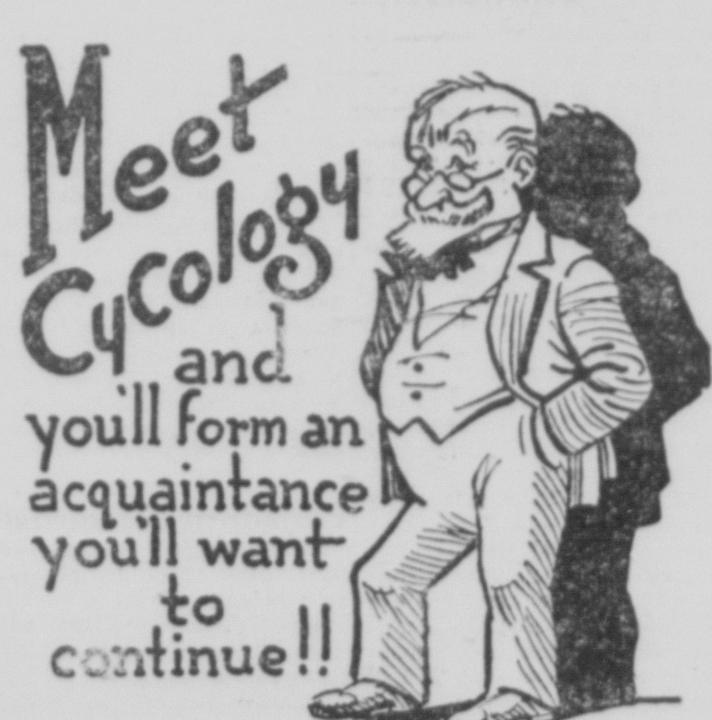

After forcing Daley to drive him a short distance, the robber jumped out and climbed into another car which sped off.

C. Elwood Huffman's Name Submitted For Game Commission

Sportsmen
Also Name
Peter Murey

C. ELWOOD HUFFMAN, Marhs Creek, was put in the running yesterday as a possible replacement for B. K. Williams on the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Republican Williams of East Stroudsburg will be retiring at the end of his eight-year term shortly.

Huffman's name was one of two chosen yesterday by delegates from the eight-county Northeast District Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

The meeting started at 2 p.m. at Hotel Readington, Wilkes-Barre, with voting delegates present from Susquehanna, Wyoming, Luzerne, Carbon, Monroe, Pike and Wayne. Lackawanna's delegates were absent.

Nominations of four candidates took only a few minutes. But an hour of argument and debate followed.

Huffman's name was put on the floor by Roy Kromer, Monroe delegate from Kunkletown Rod and Gun Club. Democratic County Chairman Jacob F. Altemose, of Stroudsburg, took the floor to speak in behalf of Huffman.

Winning nomination along with Huffman was elderly Peter Murey, about 73, of Carbon County. He is vice-president of the Northeast Federation.

Losers were from Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

The names of Huffman and Murey will be submitted shortly to Gov-elect George M. Leader, who will be making two appointments to the commission shortly.

It is expected that other names will be submitted from other districts of the federation.

Huffman, 51, has been owner-manager of Mountain Lake House in Marshalls Creek since his graduation from Bucknell University in 1928 as a batchelor of arts.

He has been a school director of Middle Smithfield Township since 1932 and has been board secretary for the past 12 years. Other offices: vice-president of East Stroudsburg Exchange Club; Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau director; Eastern Poconos Reservoir Association director; board chairman of Marshalls Creek Fire Co. He holds memberships in Pocono Mountains Motor Club, State Hotel Association, and Smithfield Rod and Gun Club.

Huffman has hunted all his life and has a reputation for being an ardent sportsman.

The Game Commission has eight members, each appointed for an eight-year term. Two appointments are made each odd-numbered year.

In addition to replacing Williams, Leader will also name a man to replace G. J. Phillips of Alexandria.

Only Democrat on the commission is Nicholas Biddle of Montgomery County, newly-elected commission chairman.

Attending from Monroe County Ernest Pearson, Elmer Frantz, Melvin Haydt, Kunkletown; Arch Barry, Fish Warden Floyd Bachman, and Game Protector John Doebling, Stroudsburg; and Assemblyman Van D. Yetter of Marhs Creek.

Williams succeeded the late Dr. C. B. Rosencrans of East Stroudsburg years ago. He was responsible for bringing about approval of the development of the Devil's Hole property near Cresco, with a turkey-hardening pen; and development of Big Pocono into a state park.

TWO MONROE County-sponsored resolutions were approved unanimously yesterday by the Northeast Federation.

One was a proposal to make spotlighting of deer illegal between Oct. 1 and April 1. The other raises the fine for an illegal kill from $100 to $200.

The resolutions will now be submitted to the State Federation for consideration.

Polk Township's Vocational Homemakers Get Head Start With Prizes At Farm Exhibition

POLK TOWNSHIP vocational homemakers were off to a flying start at the State Farm Show in Harrisburg yesterday.

Girls from the West End school won prizes totaling $75 or more in the judging of high school homemaking exhibits.

It is expected that other names will be submitted from other districts of the federation.

Huffman, 51, has been owner-manager of Mountain Lake House in Marshalls Creek since his graduation from Bucknell University in 1928 as a batchelor of arts.

He has been a school director of Middle Smithfield Township since 1932 and has been board secretary for the past 12 years. Other offices: vice-president of East Stroudsburg Exchange Club; Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau director; Eastern Poconos Reservoir Association director; board chairman of Marshalls Creek Fire Co. He holds memberships in Pocono Mountains Motor Club, State Hotel Association, and Smithfield Rod and Gun Club.

Huffman has hunted all his life and has a reputation for being an ardent sportsman.

The Game Commission has eight members, each appointed for an eight-year term. Two appointments are made each odd-numbered year.

In addition to replacing Williams, Leader will also name a man to replace G. J. Phillips of Alexandria.

Only Democrat on the commission is Nicholas Biddle of Montgomery County, newly-elected commission chairman.

Attending from Monroe County Ernest Pearson, Elmer Frantz, Melvin Haydt, Kunkletown; Arch Barry, Fish Warden Floyd Bachman, and Game Protector John Doebling, Stroudsburg; and Assemblyman Van D. Yetter of Marhs Creek.

Williams succeeded the late Dr. C. B. Rosencrans of East Stroudsburg years ago. He was responsible for bringing about approval of the development of the Devil's Hole property near Cresco, with a turkey-hardening pen; and development of Big Pocono into a state park.

TWO MONROE County-sponsored resolutions were approved unanimously yesterday by the Northeast Federation.

One was a proposal to make spotlighting of deer illegal between Oct. 1 and April 1. The other raises the fine for an illegal kill from $100 to $200.

The resolutions will now be submitted to the State Federation for consideration.

Small Game Kill Lower Than '53

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9 (P)—The State Game Commission reported tonight that the 1954 kill of most small game was below that recorded in 1953.

Without giving any overall estimate of the November small game season the commission said that based on protectors' reports the 1954 kill of squirrel, raccoon, woodchuck, grouse and pheasant fell below the previous year. The rabbit and turkey kill was considered above 1953 totals.

Property, Supplies Post Is Filled

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9 (P)—William D. Thomas, Sharon florist, will serve as secretary of property and supplies in the cabinet of Gov.-elect George M. Leader.

Leader yesterday named Thomas as successor to Frank C. Hilton, a Reading Republican who served in the administration of Gov. John S. Fine.

Thomas, 45, is operator of the largest retail florist establishment in northwestern Pennsylvania. He is also a licensed insurance broker.

As chairman of the Mercer County Democratic Committee, Thomas was credited to a large degree with turning his county into the democratic column in the Nov. 2 election. The district is normally Republican.

Leader described Thomas as a man of unquestioned ability and integrity" and added:

"Mr. Thomas is a respected Sharon business man who started from scratch and built up what is said to be the leading florist business in northwestern Pennsylvania."

"He is also a successful insurance broker and has the sort of business background that is essential to the efficient administration of the department of property and supplies."

Thomas is married and has two children. He is a Navy veteran of World War II.

Henry E. Seese

Henry Seese Promoted By IMB Firm

HENRY E. SESEE, son of Asst. Chief of Police and Mr. Travis J. Seese, 98 Walnut St., East Stroudsburg, has been promoted to manager of the heat treating department of International Business Machines Corp. plant at Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Seese is a native of East Stroudsburg. He joined the IBM Poughkeepsie operation in February of 1948 as a furnace operator in the heat treating department.

He is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. During World War II, Mr. Seese served three and a half years, two years of which were in the Pacific battle zones.

Other Polk winners in the division were Luella Smale, Pocono, fifth; Ruth Serfass, Ruth Kresse — second, third and fourth respectively.

Somebody else got the fifth prize — darn it!

16 Year Old Girl Killed

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 9 (P)—An auto crashed into the rear of a steel-laden tractor-trailer on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here last night, killing 16-year-old Mary Jo Tattee, of Connellsville, a passenger in the auto.

The car driver, John Denver, 16, of Connellsville, RD 3, was injured.

The truck driver, Joseph Metz, Pittsburgh, was not injured.

Lenient Courts

State highway safety officials are reporting worried about the rate at which Pennsylvania's courts are reversing the action of the state in suspending drivers' licenses for speeding or reckless driving.

They cite figures to show that of 1762 suspensions appealed to the courts in 1954, the suspensions actually were made to stick in only 508 cases—a batting average of only .290. Of the others, 869—almost half—got their licenses back, and 309 drivers got "restrikted" licenses which enabled them to continue to drive on trips connected with their work.

For nearly 20 years now, the state has had a standard penalty, in addition to a fine, of 90 days' suspension of driving privileges for all motorists who exceed the state's 50-mile-an-hour speed limit.

This suspension is a lot more effective than a fine in keeping down speeding on the highways. It's inconvenient for most persons to give up driving for three months; it handicaps others who must earn a living with their cars, and it's almost impossible for some who work or live in isolated sections.

But it's this very inconvenience that makes the penalty such a powerful force for preventing speeding—our biggest highway killer. Many a citizen who would tramp all the way down on the accelerator if all he had to fear was a fine will take it easy, if he knows he faces 90 days of non-driving. And it saves lives.

We know that the quality of mercy is not strained, and we agree that the actions of administrative officials in matters of this kind should be subject to judicial review. The state isn't infallible and certainly the citizen should have the right to appeal to the courts.

But couldn't the courts take it a little easy in the matter of reversing so many of the state's driver suspensions. If it gets too easy to wiggle out of a 90-day suspension, somebody's going to get killed—by a speeder.

Crime On The Rise

The announcement by J. Edgar Hoover that serious crime is at an all-time high will not surprise police and others who deal directly with the problem. Few communities have escaped the steady increase in the years since World War II.

Individual citizens, however, are inclined to ignore crimes unless they or their families or friends are involved. This FBI report should be a warning that crime is everybody's business, as an economic and sociological burden in addition to the purely personal danger.

Grae Sekolsky Says...

Pull Toward Divine Intelligence So Great That It Is Perceptible

For 114 weeks now, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's book, "The Power of Positive Thinking," has been at the top of the best seller list. That is as significant as the Dr. Sam murder case, as Gloria Vanderbilt leaving Leopold Stokowski, or as the conflict between Arthur Godfrey and his staff.

For what this astonishing news item tells us is that among all the books published and sold to the general public through book stores, the one that has been most purchased each week for more than two years is a religious work, written by a clergyman whose object is to preach living according to the moral law of God. Dr. Peale is not a literary stylist; he does not use words for their effectiveness. He is a simple Christian, a Methodist who preaches over a Dutch Reformed Church, who, without much ado about it, captivates his reader as he does his listener, by the simplicity and directness of his conversion.

"Why is this secular cult of science not enough? Because science operates in a spiritual medium from which it can never detach itself. Our Western science is the child of moral virtues; and it must now become the father of further moral virtues if its extraordinary material triumphs in our times are not to bring human history to an abrupt, unpleasant, and discreditable end..."

Again, this significant book has been written by a profoundly religious thinker who relates it to too many Russians go to church and the atheistic campaign has been stepped up. The amazing fact is that science has not killed God, by whatever name He may be called. The pull toward the Divine Intelligence is so great these days that it is perceptible.

It is not Norman Vincent Peale who is very important in the phenomenon of his popularity. The same can be said for Billy Graham and Dr. James Fifefield and hundreds of similar spiritual leaders. They serve a terrifying need, as Bishop Fulton Sheen does, the need for a comforting word, the need for a holding of hands, for a pat on the shoulder—the need to know that God does exist and that His servants labor upon this Earth.

For 114 weeks this little book "The Power of Positive Thinking" stands at the top of the best seller list because in these troubled times, in spite of what all the current wise ones say, men and women do turn to God and to a message that relates man to God. In our country, materialism does not satisfy. It is not enough. It is not comforting. Luxury does not make for peace of mind; a high standard of living does not make for contentment; money in the pocket or in the bank does not produce happy families. More and more of our people are beginning to realize that what Arnold Toynbee has said so correctly:

"... Our heritage and tradition are rich in spiritual insight. And the case for democracy is a formidable one and ought to be stated in its fullness and with positive power. No one is under any illusion that simply by stating a set of ideas we can bring into tranquil repose a world torn by convulsive revolutionary forces. But it is equally unrealistic to deny that our present struggle yet delayed, possibly until next year.

Members voted to retain all officers of both organizations: Aid, Mrs. Walter Brandt, president; Mrs. E. B. Bauman, vice-president; Mrs. Louis Hoffecker, secretary; Mrs. C. N. Guillot, treasurer; Missionary, Miss Helen Cook, leader; Mrs. Horton Steffert, secretary; Mrs. E. B. Bartram, treasurer.

The matron-of-honor was Mrs. Helen Whittaker, of Bushkill, who was attired in a vermilion color ballerina length gown with matching accessories and a corsage of pale yellow carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a blue net ballerina length gown with matching hat and accessories and carried a blue Bible with white carnations and blue and white streamers.

The bride's mother wore a black taffeta dress with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose a grey wool suit with black accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception for about 50 guests at the home of the bride's parents. A three-tier wedding cake surmounted with a miniature cake and bridgeform formed the centerpiece of the bride's table.

The newlyweds spent the weekend as guests of Rossi's Pocono Gardens Lodge. The bride wore a tomato red suit with black accessories for the visit.

Mrs. Gilliland is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School and is employed as dental assistant for Dr. Seymour Pollan. Mr. Gilliland who was recently discharged from service in the US Army, is employed by the Zabriskie City Coal Co. The newlyweds are occupying an apartment at 216 Normal St., East Stroudsburg. Engagement Miss DePue Announced

Mrs. Grace DePue, of Paradise, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Imogene Ann, to Wade Rinker, of Scranton.

Miss DePue was graduated from Barrett High School and is at present a sophomore at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College where she is majoring in Elementary Education. She is also employed part time by the A&P store, Mountainhome.

Mr. Rinker is at present serving in the US Navy and is stationed at Quonset Point, R. I. Prior to his enlistment in the Navy, Mr. Rinker was employed by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co.

However they both add up, and by the end of the week, we ought to be a lot wiser, and we're sure of being a lot tamer. Well we might as well start practicing for the first meeting.

"Happy Birthday, dear Woman's Club, Happy Birthday to You."

Roger Dunning President Monroe County Historians

Roger A. Dunning was elected president of the Monroe County Historical Society at the 34th annual meeting held at the Stroud Community House Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Dunning succeeds Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, who presided at the meeting. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Dr. C. S. Flagler, and second vice president, Mrs. Chester H. Rhodes.

Elected for directors for three-year terms were Mrs. William Dolby Palmer, John Litts and Mrs. Elwood Grant. Elected for the unexpired term of William S. Lesh, deceased, was Elston Arnt.

The nominating committee was composed of Earl Groner, Dr. Robert Brown and Mrs. Horace G. Walters.

Mrs. Gerald Heller is the recording secretary of the society and Frank B. Michaels is treasurer. The latter presented the annual financial report.

The meeting was highlighted with various reports, one of which showed there are 175 members of the organization.

The organization faces an expansion plan whereby the two large rooms on the first floor, formerly occupied by the Monroe County Public Library, will be utilized for displays from the museum, now located in the basement of the building.

Announcement was made that the matter of redecorating of the two additional rooms will get underway shortly and when completed, displays and various articles in the museum will be transferred to the new section. Mrs. Horace G. Walters, the curator of the organization, will be in charge of this operation, assisted by other members. The organization is eagerly looking forward to the change which will add to the attractiveness of the museum.

These new members were accepted in the organization: Dr. and Mrs. Claude W. Leister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wallace, Mrs. Helen Webb and Mrs. Earl W. Meyers.

Mrs. Walters presented a report in which she told of donations made during the past year, also the activities. She told that during July and August, descendants of the Stroud and Depue families from California, Ohio and New York states had visited the museum.

She also told that persons were assisted in historical research. Dr. Meyer compiled a history of the society for the Get Acquainted edition of The Daily Record. Dr. Leroy J. Koehler compiled a comprehensive brochure commemorating the 34th anniversary of the event.

Entertainment will be provided by the Decemmettes of Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Numa J. Snyder. The national anthem will be sung by the entire group and Rev. Peter N. Wohlsien, D. D., will pronounce the benediction bringing the banquet to a close. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Robert Haigh, Mrs. E. H. Calkins and Mr. Dunning.

Dr. and Mrs. Meyer were hosts for the social period following Saturday afternoon's meeting when refreshments were served. Mrs. T. F. Rhodes poured.

The main address will be given by Dr. John S. Cartwright, superintendent of the public schools of Allentown, former principal of Stroudsburg High School, who will discuss "The Geology of Monroe County." He will be presented by Mr. Dunning.

Entertainment will be provided by the Decemmettes of Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Numa J. Snyder. The national anthem will be sung by the entire group and Rev. Peter N. Wohlsien, D. Man Gives Up Hatching Job

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Jan. 9 (UPI)—George McMillan, who has spent the last three weeks trying to hatch a batch of eggs, finally quit today and conceded hens are more efficient.

The 50-year-old sausage linker has been roosting 30 feet up a pine tree with six eggs strapped to his chest. Three got broken and the remainder failed to hatch.

The stunt helped raise $3,069 for a sailing club.

Red Leader Educated By Travel

By TOM WHITNEY

TRAVEL has been broadening the minds of some of the Kremlin leaders.

That at least is the impression gained from reading some of the things Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has been saying in Moscow recently.

Khrushchev has discovered there is something to be said at times for the way things are done—at least on the technical side—in foreign lands.

He also has been making a few important discoveries about the way things are being done—or mistakenly done—inside the Soviet Union.

Whilst Stalin was alive he kept his closest "comrades-in-arms" pretty much prisoners in the Kremlin and Moscow. They had to work all hours of the night. They could rarely get out of the capital and everywhere they were escorted by a platoon of bodyguards assigned to keep everyone away from them and protect their lives. They, like Stalin himself, were about as isolated from the real life of the Soviet Union as foreign ambassadors there. Even on the trips which Stalin's advisers sometimes made to Eastern European countries they didn't get out and see anything.

Since Stalin's death these men have been using their new-found freedom to get around a bit. Khrushchev has been to Prague and Warsaw. He has traveled extensively inside the Soviet Union, sometimes with Premier Georgi Malenkov. With Nikolai Bulganin and Anastase Mikoyan he made a long journey to China where he did a good deal of visiting around, and then on the way home split his group up so that they toured regions of the U.S.S.R. in the Far East, Siberia and the Urals which they, the rulers of the country, had never before seen.

What he observed in Czechoslovakia led Khrushchev early in December to tell a group of Soviet construction executives that they could learn a lot from the experience of the Czechs. He mentioned particularly reinforced concrete railway ties which economize on timber.

"Go visit them and look around. They're our friends and will share their experience with you!" he declared.

He also declared:

"And we can learn also from the German Democratic Republic where they produce good facing tiles. It's necessary to say directly that certain comrades are learning little from others and the main thing is that they don't want to."

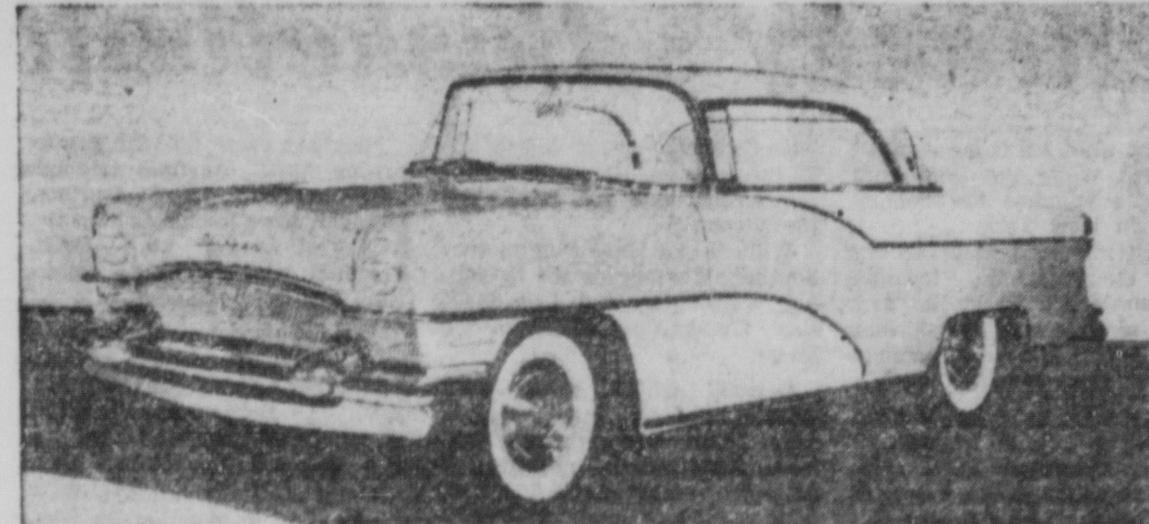

All this is a very changed picture from the Stalin era, of course. The very suggestion during the dictator's lifetime that the U.S.S.R. could learn anything from any other country would have been regarded as "sympathetic before things foreign"—something close to treason. But the Soviet leaders still see very little of what things really are like.

Bible Giver Leader's Guest

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9 (P)—Ten-year-old Jackie Minor, who bought Gov-Elect George M. Leader a Bible with his own money, will attend the governor's inaugural ball in Harrisburg, Jan. 18. His mother is going along.

Jackie received a personal invitation after the Pittsburgh boy sent Leader the Bible because "he's a good man."

The boy bought the Bible with money he earned doing chores.

INTRODUCE TORSION BAR SUSPENSION

DETROIT—A revolutionary new suspension system which eliminates coil and leaf springs and new V-8 engines with the highest horsepower for automobiles are the outstanding advances of the 1955 Packards and Clippers in dealer showrooms January 17. Heading the Clipper line of five models for the medium priced field is the Constellation hard-top (above).

Termed the most important development in riding comfort and safety since the introduction of front coil springs in 1934, torsion bar suspension appears for the first time on a production car. The engineering term "torsion" means twisting. Two long steel bars running the length of the car take the shock of road bumps and dips by twisting. This means these road shocks do not reach the car frame and car passengers. A separate load compensator keeps the rear end of the car level with the front end regardless of passenger or luggage weight. Packard's new "Torsion-Level Ride" provides a flat, constant, level ride at all times. Rear end drop on acceleration is eliminated; wheels have better traction; front end plunge is reduced when brakes are applied; and the car has greatly increased stability.

Packard's new V-8 engines range from 225 horsepower, 245 in the Constellation, up to 275 in the Packard line. Teamed with this new family of engines is a Twin-Ultramatic transmission, which gives either smooth start or rapid breakaway acceleration.

Packard Automobile Co., Inc., 135 North Ninth Street, is the local Packard dealer.

Larger Credit Due Persons With Pensions, Annuities Than Shown On Tax Forms

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (P)—If you have a pension, annuity or other retirement income, you may save some money by clipping this story and keeping it until you are ready to file your income tax return.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews disclosed today that an error has been found in the new forms, now being mailed to some 52 million taxpayers. Andrews estimated that it might affect about 100,000 persons.

He said that "a more liberal interpretation" of one provision of the 1954 tax law outmoded some of the instructions given in schedule K on the last page of Form 1040, where the new credit for retirement income can be computed.

Taxpayers affected are the following:

1. Persons with retirement income of less than $1,200 who also get some tax-exempt pension or annuity income.

2. Persons under 75 years of age who earned more than $900 in 1954 by personal services (work) of any kind.

The way the tax form is written would require people who meet the above conditions to use some amount less than $1,200 as the basis for figuring their retirement income credit.

The new "interpretation" of the law will allow everyone with qualified retirement income to use $1,200 as the basis for computing their credit.

You can bring your tax form into line with the new interpretation by making the following changes in schedule K:

1. Make line 2 of the schedule read: "Enter here $1,200"—striking out all other words in the line.

2. Make line 5 read, "balance line 2 minus line 4," or line 1, whichever is smaller."

Taxpayers with qualified retirement income are allowed by the new law to deduct a portion of it from the tax they would otherwise pay. Schedule K is the place where this portion is computed. The correction in the schedule will allow many taxpayers to get a larger credit than they would have under the instructions in the form as mailed.

You may have retirement income whether or not you are formally retired. Retirement income usable for a tax credit for persons under 65 is taxable pensions and annuities from public retirement systems. Persons 65 or older may claim most kinds of income as retirement income.

Examples of tax-exempt pension or annuity income are social security retirement pay, veterans' pensions from the railroad retirement fund.

Keep off the go on Ice and Snow!

SKIDDING! CAN'T SEE!

Slow down or stop when winter's special hazards hinder safe driving.

On ice...snow...slush...in sleet, quick thaws and freezes—keep off the go—keep speed down—make allowances for possible skids. Be prepared—use chains or special tread tires...pump brakes gently when slowing or stopping.

Winter driving demands the utmost of driving skill and quick, clear thinking. Only you...the driver...through your ability and judgment...can defeat the dangers of slippery roads, glare, reduced visibility and longer periods of darkness.

Remember—your safety on winter roads depends on you and what you do behind the wheel.

Drive to stay alive in '55!

The Associated PressGEORGIA TECH'S surprising victory over top-ranked Kentucky was accompanied by a wave of upsets over the weekend that rocked college basketball courts from coast to coast and scrambled conference standings from top to bottom.

The 59-58 triumph engineered by Georgia Tech Saturday by virtue of Joe Helms' jump shot in the last 11 seconds snapped the Wildcats' unbeaten string of 32 games and their winning streak of 129 games at home.

But Adolph Rupp's boys had plenty of company. Little St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., knocked off second-ranked Duquesne, 82-72; Cornell dumped Dartmouth from the unbeaten ranks 70-66 in an Ivy League tilt; Richmond whipped powerful George Washington 72-67, for a Southern Conference surprise; Detroit defeated Oklahoma A&M, the Missouri Valley champs, 62-59 and Iowa, co-favorite for the Big Ten title, fell before Minnesota 81-80.

While the underdogs were having their fun, Furman scored at almost a four-point-a-minute clip to rout The Citadel 134-67 as Darrell Floyd, Frank Selby's successor, tossed in 50 points and Auburn remained the only major college in the unbeaten ranks by downing Mississippi State 79-58. It was the sixth straight victory for the Tigers and their first in Southeastern Conference competition.

Kentucky, sluggish and in serious trouble all the way, looked like it would pull its game with Georgia Tech out of the fire in the last half. But the Engineers, six points down with eight minutes to play, came back to tie the score and win in the last seconds as Helms stole the ball in back court and scored with his jump shot.

In other Southeastern Conference games, Georgia, leading by 14 points at halftime, was forced into overtime but managed to nip Louisiana State 76-70; Vanderbilt threw a baffling zone defense on Tennessee to whip the Vols 73-69, and Tulane handed Florida its first conference defeat 85-74.

Unranked St. Francis, which went into the Duquesne game with a 4-4 record, played heads up ball all the way as 6-6 Maurice Stokes paced its attack with 24 points.

Dick Ricketts, the Dukes' high scorer, was replaced with five minutes to play when he reinjured the right ankle he sprained last week while the Pittsburgh team was winning the holiday festival in New York.

Cornell remained atop the Ivy League standings in handing Dartmouth's Big Green its first loss in nine tests. The Ithicans, 4-0, in league play, overcame a 39-36 half-time deficit.

Pennsylvania rang up its third straight Ivy League triumph by defeating Princeton 83-75. Harvard avenged an earlier loss with a 59-55 victory over Brown and Columbia overpowered hapless Yale 72-56. It was the 10th straight for the Elis.

Ball-stealing Warren Mills, a dynamic 5-9 guard, poked in 23 points for Richmond while running sixth-ranked George Washington crazy with his dazzling floorwork. George Washington led by three points at halftime, but Richmond went ahead 37-36 two minutes after the start of the second half and never lost the advantage.

William and Mary won another

Poconos Gain Nod Over Williams' Pharmacy, 83-62

Lake Harmony Next Foe For Stroudsburg

POCONO PINES—Stroudsburg's high scoring Poconos rolled to their second victory in three Pocono Mountains Basketball League outings here Saturday night with an 83-62 victory over Williams' Pharmacy.

The game was played as the second half of a doubleheader here on the Tobyhanna Township High School court.

Mountains League Standings

Stroudsburg returns to action tonight on the Stroudsburg High court where the Poconos play host to undefeated Lake Harmony in one of the most important contests of the current campaign. The game will get underway at 8 p.m.

The Poconos were too much for the Pharmacy cagers Saturday night and jumped off to a 29-15 edge at the end of the first quarter and maintained a 43-27 advantage at the halfway mark. The Poconos had the better of the going in the second stanza, 14-12.

Williams' club held the Poconos to a 16-16 stalemate in the third quarter, but Stroudsburg, carrying the Newman's Dress Shop colors, went on to insure victory with a 24-19 bulge in the last period.

Henry "Hank" Stetler led the winning attack with 22 points, while Jim "Bunkey" Smith, Guy "Cub" Possinger and Harvey "Gerry" Bergman also hit in double figures.

Charley Heiney, former TTHS star, paced the Pharmacy offense with 17 tallies, while Jim "Cockey" Wilson and Patton finished with 15 and 10 respectively.

The Poconos dominated the field goal department 36-22, and made good on 11 of 19 foul shots. The Pharmacy cagers converted 18 of 34 free throws.

Stroudsburg will place its record of two wins and one defeat on the line tonight against undefeated Lake Harmony, a club which has featured a two-platoon system in both of its games thus far this season.

Other games today, all listed for 8 p.m., will send Barrett against West End, on the Chestnut Hill Court, and Johnson's Diner against Gray's Chevrolet, on the Pocono High hardwood.

Chestnut Hill High is located in Brodheadsville and Pocono in Tannersville.

"ROCKY" Castellani and Holly Mims, two high ranking middleweight contenders, meet in a 12-round match at Cleveland Wednesday in the most important boxing bout of the week.

Castellani, beaten by "Bobo" Olson in a title bout at San Francisco in August, is gunning for another shot at the 160-pound crown. Mims, unbeaten since 1952, gets a chance to convince the public he deserves an Olson bout.

In his only fight since the Olson match, Castellani stopped Moses Ward, December 1. Mims had trouble getting matches although he was held to a draw by Bobby Dykes at Washington, June 30.

The nationally televised bout (ABC) is regarded as a toss up with no pronounced favorite.

With an ice show in Madison

Square Garden, the Friday night lights take to the road again with Duilio Loi, the European lightweight champion from Italy, boxing Glen Flanagan at the Miami Beach Auditorium. The show will be carried on network radio and TV (NBC).

Loi, ranked number two among the lightweight contenders, has lost only one fight of 51 although he has fought three draws. This will be his American debut. Flanagan, subbing for Eddie Chavez, is veteran of 93 bouts with a 67-15-11 record. In a supporting 10-round, Bob Satterfield and Johnny Holman meet in a heavyweight match.

Rudy Garcia, the Los Angeles feather who is gaining support as a future champ, takes on Bobby Bell of Youngstown, O., in the 10-round main event tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. It's a TV fight (ABC). Garcia handed Carmelo Costa his first defeat in his last two starts.

The Saturday night fights (ABC-TV) come to an end of the run on TV with a Miami welterweight bout between Joe Miceli of New York and Ialo Scorticini of Italy. Miceli lost to Peter Mueller in his last start while Scorticini dropped a decision to Gil Tracy.

"I don't know whether we can get him," said Barnhill. "Until last night, I've spent about all of my time trying to keep Wyatt. It's hard to keep a coach and hire a new one at the same time."

Weaver admitted that he's interested in the Arkansas job, but added, "I'll have to do a lot of thinking. I have a good job at Texas Tech."

Barnhill will meet here today with a university faculty committee and three members of the Arkansas board of trustees to get underway the search for a new coach.

Whoever takes over from Wyatt will find waiting for him the team which won the 1954 Southwest Conference championship. Only four members of the first two units will be lost via graduation. They are All-American guard Bud Brooks, tackles Eddie Bradford and Jim Rola, and blocking back Bobby Proctor.

Wyatt won himself an immortal position in Arkansas football circles with his 1954 aggregation, which posted an 8-2 season record and ran up a seven-game winning streak. Arkansas closed out the year by dropping a tight 18-6 decision to Georgia Tech in the Cotton Bowl.

Steelers Ink New Mentor

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9 (AP)—The National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers yesterday hired Herman Ball, one-time head coach of the Washington Redskins, as their new defensive line mentor.

Ball, 44, succeeds "Chuck" Chervundo who resigned at the end of the 1954 season.

The Steelers still are looking for a backfield coach to replace Gene Rouzani who also quit.

A former assistant coach at Maryland, Ball tutored the Redskins from 1951-51. He makes his home in Elkins, W. Va.

Middleweights To Meet

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (AP)—George Johnson, Trenton, N. J., and Raymond Fuentes, Los Angeles, will meet in a 10-round nationally televised middleweight bout here January 28, promoted by Herman Taylor announced today.

Littler Wins Los Angeles Open Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP)—Bowlering the opposition over with the confidence of a veteran, Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., won the top money in the $32,500 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament today with a final round two under par 69 and a 72-hole score of 276.

The 1953 National Amateur champion cut the tough field down to size in winning the $5,000 first prize. It was his first major triumph since he turned professional less than a year ago after whipping the pros in the San Diego Open.

Comming with a rush in the final stages as the other erstwhile challengers fell by the wayside, Ted Kroll of Bethesda, Md., came in to win second place money of $2,780 with a final round 69—his third straight 69—for 278.

Johnny Bulla of Pittsburgh, winner of the L. A. Open in 1941, finished third with a 72 for 279 and $2,100.

An estimated 10,000 fans swarmed over the Ingewood Country Club, a 6,308-yard course with par 36-35-71, for the windup of this 29th annual winter time golf attraction.

Littler started out the final round two strokes back of the leader, Eric Monti of Los Angeles. Monti had to fold early and Gene soon took charge.

At the end of the 63rd hole veteran Johnny Palmer had come up to challenge. But Johnny banded out four straight bogeys, starting with the 10th and soon was out of the picture.

Littler started out the tournament trailing the first round leader, Bo Wininger, by four strokes. At the end of the second round, he was three shots behind the leaders, Monti and Gardner Dickinson. Then he was just two off of the pace this morning.

Ahead, at 281, was Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., who had a 68. His brother, Jay, from Long Island, fell back with a 76 for 285. Jay was tied with Maxwell, who had a 74, and Al Besselin, with a 72.

National Open Champion Ed Fur- gol shot a 72 for 284, even par and a tie with Lloyd Mangrum, Tommy Bolt, Mike Krak, Shelley Mayfield, Art Wall Jr., Tommy Bolt, Jack Fleck and Jerry Barber.

Amateur honors were won by Eddie Draper of Seattle, with rounds of 72-74-68-73-287.

Wall represented Pocono Manor, Pa. in the tournament.

Lake Harmony Shows Power Against West End, 125-73

POCONO PINES—Lake Harmony gave another demonstration of strength in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League on Saturday night when the Lakers rolled to a convincing 125-73 verdict over West End here on the Tobyhanna Township High School court.

The contest was played as the first half of a doubleheader.

Henry "Hank" Krechel, former Poole High star, led all scorers with 37 points.

Albany Holds Key To Eastern Loop

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—The Eastern Baseball League — faced with the prospect of operating with six clubs for the first time since 1923 — today gave Albany until January 29 to decide if it will field a team under a new owner.

The league held a special meeting here to determine what course to follow. President Tommy Richardon presented a 140-game, eight-club schedule which would get under way April 19 and close on Labor Day.

Right now, the league has seven teams. For a time, it was feared that Wilkes-Barre would be forced to withdraw because the Detroit Tigers severed their working agreement with the club. But it was reorganized and will operate as an independent.

"But," said a league official, "If Albany does not field a team, I imagine we'll have to push Wilkes-Barre out and run with six teams."

Here is the situation at Albany:

Tom McCaffery, Albany president, got in a hassle with the Boston Red Sox, with whom he had a working agreement, over television, and announced he wouldn't operate this year. Isidor Tabachneck, Albany supermarket operator, offered to buy the club from McCaffery and a price was agreed upon.

Tabachneck, however, said he will run the club only if he receives support from the fans. Therefore, for the next two weeks, he will appeal to the people of the city for support.

Pope Pius Cagers Set For Action

ROSETO — Pope Pius X High School will try to snap its basketball losing streak at five straight today when the charges of Coach Joe Villiano play host to Allentown Central Catholic junior varsity. The game will take place on the Roseto Public School court.

A preliminary contest will pit Pope Pius junior varsity at 6:30 p.m. The main event is carded for 7:45 p.m.

Tabachneck, however, said he will run the club only if he receives support from the fans. Therefore, for the next two weeks, he will appeal to the people of the city for support.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, JANUARY 10, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Get off to a flying start this splendid day. Results could surprise you if you give your best efforts and don't do anything to offend your possibilities. Don't be too restless, though.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Be alert, worthy of trust placed in you. Much depends on your own initiative and opportunities at hand. Inate modesty often begets quicker recognition than does boldness and a sense of humor.

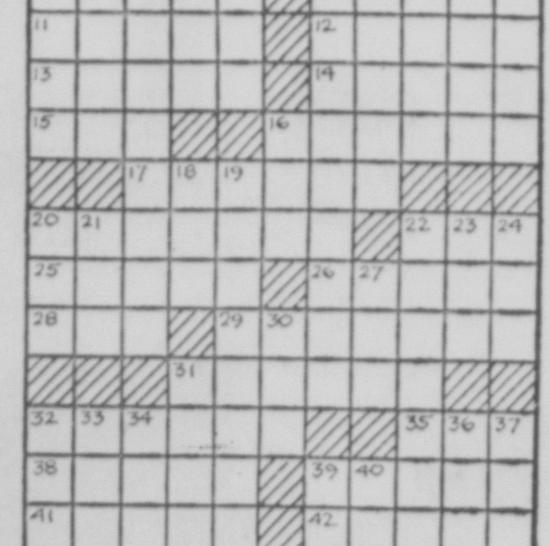

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Get off to a flying start this splendid day. Results could surprise you if you give your best efforts and don't do anything to offend your possibilities. Don't be too restless, though.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer) — Auspicious rays should stimulate your interest in objects and receive good things. Realize the opportunities before you and don't be pushed or undecided in action. Have faith in yourself. July 21 to August 20 (Leo) — Concentrate on the essentials to get maximum credits. Avoid anxiety and impatience. Gentle will help and both may do great harm. Seek God's guidance.

August 21 September 19 (Virgo) — Your born TODAY have great capability and the common sense to use it profitably. You are most dependent individuals, honorable, kindly and unusually talented; may have a curb a tendency to consider personal recognition more important than spiritual values. You can be a force for great good in this troubled world if you cultivate and use your God-given talents and interests.

September 20 to October 18 (Libra) — This day favors better present occupational conditions rather than making plans for the future. Ask and great favors and where you can, cooperation favored.

October 19 to November 22 (Scorpio) —

NCAA Rules Committee To Meet

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—The NCAA football rules committee begins its deliberations here Monday with the general idea that the rules are in pretty good shape as they stand.

In line with their attitude of a year ago, the 10 members of the body are expected to make few, if any changes in the code but rather to concentrate on safety measures.

The influential coaches rules committee has suggested three changes to the national group and one NCAA committee member said that he expected the proposal to relax the substitution rule would go through.

The coaches' proposal is that the four-minute "segment" at the end of each half, when players who have been removed from the game are allowed to re-enter, should be eliminated entirely. Instead, a player who starts a quarter of the game should be allowed to leave the game and re-enter once during that period. But a player who did not start the quarter would not be permitted to return once he had gone out.

That would permit a coach to take out a player for a "breather" or to examine an injury without losing him for an entire period. It also would permit limited use of conversion-kickers or other specialists.

Davis Says Freedom Loss Worse Than Atomic War

By Leonard Randolph

SEN. Joseph McCarthy has "gone back to the minor leagues" but "mccarthyism is still around," radio commentator and best-selling author Elmer Davis told a Tamiment Institute audience Saturday afternoon.

Davis made the comment in a brief, off-the-cuff speech. He was accepting a $500 award for his book "But We Were Born Free."

Resting his body at an angle, his hand supported by a cane, the author warned his listeners that "mccarthyism" did not suffer a relapse just because the senator whose name inspired the term was censured in 1954.

"It's true McCarthy has relapsed—he's gone back to the minor leagues—but maccarthyism is very much around" waiting to be picked up and used by any other demagogue who chooses, Davis said.

Davis' hoosier-accented voice raised slightly as he referred to a previous speech by Dr. Phillip Murray, one of the speakers, who had quoted the lines: "Give me your tired, your poor . . ." from the Emma Lazarus poem inscribed on the base of the Statue of Liberty.

"I'm sorry to say that those lines Dr. Murray quoted for us . . . are living only in the past right now," he said. "With Scott McLeod in charge of the information service they are not in the present."

Although he agreed with current warnings against possible destruction by atomic weapons, Davis said, "there is one thing worse than atomic war — and that's the loss of liberty."

The one-time head of the Office of War Information, during World War Two, Davis established a reputation as a radio commentator and editorial writer before writing "But We Were Born Free."

He was one of two men honored by Tamiment this year. The other was Dr. Selman A. Waksman, whose autobiography, "My Life With the Microbes," describes his search for the drug, streptomycin.

The Tamiment citation — and the $500 check — to Davis was presented by Robert Sherwood, four-time Pulitzer Prize-winner for plays and biography. In his introductory remarks, Sherwood noted that he and Davis were "old friends."

The two men worked together on the "old Life magazine," he said, during the days of the "Coolidge boom."

He praised Davis for his work as a newscaster, citing the author's ability to evaluate events and place them in perspective.

"That same sense of evaluation is the thing which has made his book as great as it is and fortunately, as great a best seller as it has been," Sherwood continued.

"Coming at the time it did . . . 'But We Were Born Free'" was in large measure responsible for the revolt against McCarthy and maccarthyism—the happiest development of 1954," he concluded.

Davis' book is a collection of essays on the fundamental principles of American government and the ways in which those principles have been abridged or perverted during recent years.

Another speaker at the luncheon was Prof. Sidney Hook, New York University philosophy teacher, who told the group: "No one knows how long we will live in a world where an atomic Pearl Harbor is a possibility. But one thing it is safe to predict—we are sure to live long enough to realize that there is no substitute for intelligence."

Davis, in commenting on this part of Hook's speech, said simply:

"One day it is possible that a cockroach may stand on the skull of Isaac Newton and say—Here lies the remains of a species which was unable to accommodate itself to its environment."

The fifth annual Tamiment book awards luncheon was held in the Sert Room of New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

13 Year Old Boy Shoots His Stepmother With Claim She "Picked On Me", Police Say

GLEN HEAD, N. Y., Jan. 9 (UPI)—A 13-year-old boy calmly drew a bead on his stepmother in the bright moonlight last night, police said, and shot her through the heart with a .22 rifle because "she picked on me."

Kenneth Ray Corcoran Jr., son of a naval officer, then tossed the gun in some bushes and slipped said, leaving Mrs. Irma Corcoran, 49, dead on the doorstep.

Police, called by a neighbor who heard a scream, first thought the woman had died of a heart attack. Kenneth helped drag her body into the house and called a doctor.

It wasn't until later at an undertaking establishment that the small bullet hole was noticed.

Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell said Kenneth admitted the shooting after questioning.

He admitted it again, Pinnell said, in the presence of his incredulous father, a 39-year-old Navy lieutenant due to take command of a destroyer escort tomorrow. He muttered, "I still can't believe it."

"She picked on me," the boy said, according to Pinnell, adding: "She said I closed the door too hard—she said I wore my shoes out too fast—she said I scuffed up my rugs when I walked."

The boy, a slender, blue-eyed eighth grade student, who can remember no other mother than his stepmother, was taken to the Minerva children's shelter. Pending a hearing the boy was held on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Corcoran, a native of Bedford, S.D., had been married previously. She and Corcoran were married in 1945, when Kenneth was 3, and lived at various naval bases throughout the United States.

For the past three years, Corcoran has been stationed at the U.S. Maritime Academy at Kings Point. He had just finished a 16-day leave and was due to take command of the destroyer-escort Allen at the Brooklyn Navy Yard tomorrow. Corcoran served on destroyers in both the Atlantic and Pacific during World War II, and hunts as a hobby. The .22 rifle was one of five guns in the house, police said.

Corcoran said his former wife, May, the boy's mother, had remarried, but he did not know her new name nor where she is now living.

Holy Name Society At Communion

175 MEMBERS and guests of the Holy Name Society of St. Matthew's Church, attended the annual communion breakfast at the Penn-Stroud hotel in Stroudsburg, Sunday morning, Jan. 9th. Members of the society received Holy Communion at a special 8:30 mass at St. Luke's Church, Stroudsburg, celebrated by the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Madden, vice chancellor of the diocese of Scranton.

After mass new members were installed in a ceremony conducted by Rev. H. G. Durkin. Assisting were Truman Burnett, secretary president and Paul Halstrak, secretary. The entire membership then renewed the Holy Name pledge to uphold the honor of the Holy Name of Jesus; to refrain from blasphemy and profanity, and to remain at all times loyal Christians and citizens to God and country.

After services the men proceeded in a body to the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The breakfast was opened with the invocation by Father Durkin followed by the singing of "America" by members, who later participated in group singing. Edward Gunnels, toastmaster welcomed the guests and men then introduced Truman Burnett, president, who expressed his thanks for the excellent turnout at this annual affair. He read a letter from Mrs. Helen Oppel, president of St. Matthew's Altar and Rosary society congratulating the men on their splendid attendance at communion, and thanking the men for their cooperation in projects conducted by the ladies organization.

The guest speaker, Msgr. Madden, opened his talk with a few humorous anecdotes. Then referring to members as "Men of the Mountain," he spoke about the true purpose of the society and responsibilities of its members. He said the organization is not a "pressure group" of any kind, but rather a group of Catholic men dedicated to uphold the honor of the Holy Name of Jesus Christ. Msgr. Madden urged the men to be positive Catholic citizens by being Good Holy Name men; to develop a good Christian conscience and strong faith to please God and work according to his plan.

He called the Society "God's Guard" whose members must be "living dynamic Catholics to uphold the standard and norm patterned by Christ."

The guest speaker closed with what he called a short Irish prayer.

"May the road come up to meet you; may the wind be always at your back; and may God keep you in the hollow of His hand."

Father Durkin expressed his thanks to the guest speaker and to the officers and committees for their effort in making this annual event a success. Father Durkin closed the breakfast with a prayer.

Senator Says Ike Would Be Good Democrat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UPI)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said today President Eisenhower would have made a "good" president if he'd been a Democrat.

Sparkman, the 1956 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said he considered it "one of the great tragedies" that Eisenhower did not decide that he was a Democrat instead of a Republican.

The Alabama got into the subject when a questioner on a radio-television program — NBC-Youth Wants To Know — recalled that in 1948 Sparkman had suggested that Eisenhower run for President. Sparkman was asked how he felt about it now.

"Had he been elected as a Democrat he would have had the finest of cooperation from Democratic leaders and a Democratic Congress and he would have made a great president," Sparkman said.

The guest speaker, Msgr. Madden, opened his talk with a few humorous anecdotes. Then referring to members as "Men of the Mountain," he spoke about the true purpose of the society and responsibilities of its members. He said the organization is not a "pressure group" of any kind, but rather a group of Catholic men dedicated to uphold the honor of the Holy Name of Jesus Christ. Msgr. Madden urged the men to be positive Catholic citizens by being Good Holy Name men; to develop a good Christian conscience and strong faith to please God and work according to his plan.

He called the Society "God's Guard" whose members must be "living dynamic Catholics to uphold the standard and norm patterned by Christ."

The guest speaker closed with what he called a short Irish prayer.

"May the road come up to meet you; may the wind be always at your back; and may God keep you in the hollow of His hand."

Father Durkin expressed his thanks to the guest speaker and to the officers and committees for their effort in making this annual event a success. Father Durkin closed the breakfast with a prayer.
